CHAPARRAL FRONT OFFICE

Operations Manager: Max Williams

The Operating Manager of the Dallas Chaparrals is Max Williams who won basketball fame as a high school player in his hometown of Avoca, and as a college star at SMU from 1956 to 1960. A 5' 10" guard, Williams blazed a razzle-dazzle career in the Southwest Converence after having set the all time aggregate scoring record in the State of Texas for schoolboy play. At SMU, Williams was three times voted to the All-Conference team. After graduation from SMU, Williams entered the insurance business. For the past two and one-half years, he worked in Mexico for Associated Metals of New York. Williams became affiliated with the Club in February, 1967, and for a long period of time was the only visible evidence that a Dallas franchise existed in the ABA. Perhaps it is safe to say that the history of the Chaparrals is known to Williams more than to anyone else as he has been there every step of the way. Max is married to the former Carolyn Cooper of Plainview. They have two children: Wayne who is 6, and Laura, 15 months.

Publicity Director: Terry Stembridge

The Publicity Director for the Chaparrals is Terry Stembridge, a graduate of the University of Texas, former East Texas history teacher, and sports announcer. Terry joined the team in August as Director of Public Relations and play-by-play announcer for the radio network. While teaching history in the Pine Tree school system in Longview and Kilgore High School, Terry announced sporting events for KOCA Radio in Kilgore. During the past six seasons, he has done play-by-play of more than 700 football, basketball, and baseball games. He has broadcast from the State Championship Tournament in Austin for three years, from the NJCAA Basketball Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas, and last season announced the National Junior College football championship game at Savannah, Georgia. For the past year, Terry was the Sports Director and News Editor of KOCA in Kilgore.

Ticket Manager: Jean Hemilright

The newest member of the Chaparral organization is Jean Hemilright, the Club's Ticket Manager. Jean came to the Chaparrals from the Accounting Department of one of the Chaparral owners, Robert S. Folsom, where she has been employed for the last three years. Jean has lived in Dallas for three years. Her husband, Harry Hemilright, is the Director of Apartment Construction for the RSF Development Corporation.

Executive Secretary: Sue Toole

The voice on the phone and the hand on the typewriter at the Chaparral office belongs to Sue Toole. Sue joined the organization in June during the tryout camp and remembers when the Chaparrals set up office in an empty dressing room at the Richardson High School Gym. Since then the Chaparral office has moved to the plush Expressway Tower Building. Sue is a Virginia girl who has attended the University of Corpus Christi, Corpus Christi, Texas, and also the Executive Secretarial School in Dallas. She has had experience in Civil Service at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia; with a law firm in Tyler, Texas; and has spent three years as Secretary to the Registrar at the University of Corpus Christi. Sue is married to Lonnie Toole whom she met while he was in the Army stationed in Virginia. Lonnie is associated with Collins Radio in Dallas, and being a former basketballer at the University of Corpus Christi, Lonnie has been frequently seen working out with the team during the summer.

Trainer: John Lally

The trainer for the Chapparals is 24-year old John N. Lally, a native of Ft. Worth. Lally attended Texas Christian University from 1961 to 1965 working under Elmer Brown as trainer for the Horned Frogs. In 1965, Lally formed an associated with the Chicago Cubs' farm system. The Cubs assigned him to the Dallas-Ft. Worth Spurs of the Texas League. The League named him its All-Star trainer three times for the contest against the Houston Astros. Lally who is single, now makes his home in Dallas.

Team Medical Staff

The Chaparral team physicians are Dr. Don R. Klein and Dr. Leo L. Fitzgerald, and the team dentist is Dr. Jerry Chitwood.

Public Relations

The Chaparrals are represented by Van Cronkhite & Maloy, Inc., Southland Life Building, Dallas, Texas. (214) RI 1-6121

Press

Working press accommodations are available for all media who are actually covering a game. Press tickets are also available for all media not actually covering a game. Working press and non-working press ticket requests should be made to the Chaparral Office in the Expressway Towers Building at 6116 N. Central Expressway.

Statistical material for the working press and other media is available at the press table before the game and following the game. Stills, action pics, biographies and complete information on the Chaparrals or any other ABA team may be obtained from the Club's office.

Covering the Chaparrals for the Dallas newspapers are Jim Brannan of the Dallas Times Herald, and Carlton Stowers of the Dallas Morning News.

The Chaparral by-line in the Dallas Times Herald belongs to Jim Brannan who has been covering the team since early in the formation of the franchise. Jim has been on the Herald sports staff for five years. He has covered the Missouri-Valley basketball conference, Southwest Conference football, and the Texas college football scene, as well as the Dallas Cowboy games. A graduate of East Texas State, Jim is a native of Clarksville. He is married to the former Mary Martin of Annona and the father of four boys ranging in age from four to ten.

The Dallas Morning News has assigned Carlton Stowers to watch over the Chaparrals for their sports page. Stowers has just arrived in Dallas from Lubbock where he was on the staff of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. The 25-year old graduate of the University of Texas spent a year as the Sports Editor of the Roswell, New Mexico Daily Record. Stowers is no stranger to basketball having covered the exploits of Gene Gibson's Texas Tech Red Raiders in the Southwest Conference. Carlton and his wife, Betty, are from Abilene; they have a four year old son, Anson.

Rubin Russell.

...If you wonder why Rubin Russell seldom smiles, it might be that the intent young man remembers the 1965-66 season at North Texas. The Eagles dropped all 14 conference outings in the rugged Missouri-Valley Conference.

Charles Beasley.

...During the summer, Charles commuted to Chaparral informal workouts on free time from Perrin Air Force Base.

...Third leading scorer in the history of SMU with 1, 204 points.

AMERICAN BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION

The new American Basketball Association is an 11-team professional league with franchises in Louisville, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, New Jersey, New Orleans, Dallas, Houston, Denver, Oakland, and Anaheim. Former professional star George Mikan, now an attorney, is commissioner. He and his staff are headquartered in Minneapolis, where they run league business. And it has turned out to be quite a business.

The 11 franchises are now committed to the tune of $25 million over the next three years. Never in the history of professional sports has a new endeavor such as the ABA been so well financed. The cities in the league are divided into two divisions as listed below:

Eastern Division	Western Division
Indianapolis	Anaheim
Louisville	Dallas
Minnesota	Denver
New York	Houston
Pittsburgh	New Orleans
	Oakland

At the conclusion of the regular season the number one and number two teams of each division will play a best of five series, and then the winner of each division play off will play each other in a best of 7 series. This play off system is considerably modified from that of the National Basketball Association. In last year's season every team in the NBA, with the exception of three, participated in the play offs.

The American Basketball Association became reality in February of 1967. Its founders realized that basketball is the only major sport in a monopolistic position as far as topflight professional play was concerned. Suffering, as a result, were the millions of fans in areas throughout the country who had no access to this kind of play, as well as the many excellent players with national acclaim who could find no room in existing professional operations to continue their athletic careers (this includes the National Invitational Tournament's Most Valuable Player winners for eight out of the last eleven years). In addition, numerous commercial sponsors who sought to identify their products with sports, to the betterment of players and communities, were excluded from this type of participation by virtue of existing high costs ($75,000 for one minute of time on the NFL Game of the Week) or competitive product exclusively. In researching this situation, and linking it with the current national sports boom (estimated 1966 "personal spending for consumption" at a record $455 billion, 6% higher than in 1965. . . the prospering leisure time market approaching $50 billion) they developed a concept that draws upon sports -- in-business, experience, the requirements of spectators and players, and the potential of major league basketball. After careful study they then combined all these factors and proceeded to solicit backer interest among a number of the country's leading industrialists and financiers - men whose personal and business histories would stimulate their understanding and approval of the ABA concept.

The result is a league based on the finest principles of sports and the expediting of these principles.

CHAPARRAL HISTORY

In the early days of the American Basketball Association, the Dallas franchise like most of its counterparts, was to become a foundling. The charter groups who controlled the ABA franchises were fated to pass from the scene leaving the teams abandoned on the doorsteps of the local citizens. The Dallas Club was originally awarded to a group from California headed by an attorney, Gary Davidson.

In this early time, the nameless Dallas franchise took part in a draft of players on the West Coast, signed a player or two, and said it was looking for a coach. The Club also acquired a name -- the Dallas Chaparrals. Critics felt the name was too long, too hard to spell, and what the heck was a Chaparral! There were many who felt that neither the name nor the Club would last. However, the Chaparral proved to be a more durable little fellow than anyone dreamed. The name not only stuck, but it survived a change of owners. In May of 1967, control of the Chaparrals shifted from the orange groves of California to the office buildings of Dallas. A group of energetic Dallas investors, sharing in the Club equally, obtained majority control of the basketball team.

The breakthrough had come. With money in the bank and interested leadership on hand, the pieces began to fit together. Mike O'Hara, a management consultant from the West Coast, Dallas attorney Graham Koch, and Max Williams the Club's Operational Manager, played the prominent roles in organizing the investors. An executive committee from the Dallas ownership was formed. David Bruton was named Chairman of the Board; Lindsay Embrey, Vice Chairman of the Board; Robert S. Folsom, President; Graham R. E. Koch, Secretary; Joseph Geary, Treasurer; and Lawrence Pollock. O'Hara who had been associated with the Art Linkletter Enterprises, became the Executive Vice President and General Manager. At O'Hara's side was Williams, the former SMU basketball star, who for many weeks had been the only employee of the club and the only visible evidence that a Dallas franchise existed.

Williams remembers how the team came to be named. "I was having dinner on the 37th Floor of the Southland Life Building in the Chaparral Club with Gary Davidson, Ben Josephson, and Roland Speth. Someone suggested that the Chaparral on the Club's napkin might be a lively mascot for the team." Williams pursued the idea and Dallas' professional basketball team became the Dallas Chaparrals. The name and image has not only lasted but has stirred the imagination of sports fans and manufacturers. Now cars, ties, T.V. programs, and women's jewelry are suddenly finding the Chaparral an interesting and imaginative name. What the comedies haven't done for the fame of the roadrunner, the Dallas professional basketball team seems destined to complete.

In June of 1967, the long Dallas search for a coach ended with the hiring of Cliff Hagan, the former Kentucky All-American and pro-star of the St. Louis Hawks. With the appearance of Hagan, came the realization in the minds of most fans that the Dallas team was for real and intended to travel first class.

In late June, in a heat plagued summer tryout camp, a group of ex-collegians and would-be pros came together for five days of testing under the sharp eye of Hagan. Hagan pared a squad of 60 down to 20, and on June 23, held an intra-squad game at Moody Coliseum at SMU. Hagan's team scored a thrilling 121-118 overtime victory against the squad coached by Max Williams. A crowd of 750 were given a taste of professional basketball.

Present in Dallas during the summer camp was Jim "Bad News" Barnes, previously with the Los Angeles Lakers,who had signed a contract with the Dallas franchise when it was still controlled by the California group. The Barnes signing drew national headlines and, although the new Dallas ownership had arrived after Barnes signed, they were prepared to honor and stand by any valid commitment they might have with the player. The controversy and lawsuits evaporated when Barnes decided to stay with the Lakers after the Club offered the big center a pay raise. And so "Bad News" was news no longer.

During the past summer, the Club which had operated out of a number of the owner's offices, secured quarters in the Expressway Tower Building along one of Dallas' busy expressways. The months of preparation culminated on September 18 when Coach Cliff Hagan turned the survivors of the summer camp and late signees over to the photographer the first morning of fall practice. Pro-basketball had arrived in Dallas.

So you see the luck of the Roadrunner is not altogether the art of the moviemaker. It is sometimes real life drama. There he goes.... There he went!!! Anyway Dallas' newest athlete, the little bird with the mischievous eye, is bouncing the ball at break neck speed straight into a 78 game American Basketball Association schedule.

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN

AGE: 35 "CLIFF"
HEIGHT: 6'4"
WEIGHT: 215
Born in Owensboro, Kentucky, on December 9, 1931
Residence: Dallas, Texas
High School: Owensboro, Kentucky
College: University of Kentucky
Pro-Experience: The St. Louis Hawks from 1956 to 1966

The career of Cliff Hagan has flashed from the backboards at Kentucky, across the thrilling floors of the NBA, to the sidelines at Dallas. Still young and clean-faced after ten glory-streaked years with the St. Louis Hawks, Hagan was hired in June of 1967 to coach the Dallas Chaparrals of the embryonic American Basketball Association. Hagan brought to the Dallas franchise the excitement of his name and a sure knowledge of professional basketball. The Dallas ownership realized that along with a high reputation, they were securing a poised and confident leader. Hagan left behind in the East great days of victory at Lexington with the Kentucky Wildcats, and that time of fame at St. Louis where he had helped boost the Hawks to the World's Championship.

Cliff ranks among the most prolific point-makers in the history of pro-basketball and one of the game's most dynamic and electrifying players. He ranks high among all players on the league scoring charts with 12,433 points in 672 games for an 18.5 mark. His lifetime percentage of .451 is second only to Wilt Chamberlain's .502 among all-time scorers. Cliff came to the Hawks in the summer of 1956 as part of a trade that saw St. Louis give up their first draft choice that spring (Boston took Bill Russell) for Hagan and Ed Macauley. At the time of the trade, Hagan had been in the Air Force where he played on a unit that won the All-Army tourney and earned him All-Service honors for two years. After joining the Hawks that fall, he was tried at guard, but finally got a chance to play forward spot, after an ineffective season when Bob Pettitt broke his arm on February 15, 1957. Cliff averaged 10 points a game for the remainder of the season, then had a 17.0 mark in 10 play off games, enroute to stardom. Cliff played on the great undefeated University of Kentucky team in 1954 that won 25 consecutive games... He and former Celts ace, Frank Ramsey, were co-captains that year. At Kentucky, he set a dozen Southeastern Conference marks and a NCAA record of 528 rebounds as a junior that stood unbroken until Russell toppled it several years later. Set school and personal college single game high of 51 points vs. Temple in 1954. His pro high of 55 was set against Cincinnati in St. Louis on February 11, 1962.

Hagan retired as an active player when the curtain dropped on the 1965-66 season. During the last year, Hagan spent a term as the Color Man for Jerry Gross on the Hawk's radio broadcasts on KMOX at St. Louis. Now in the first Chaparral autumn and winter, Hagan is back to the raging fury of pro-basketball. From the sidelines as Coach of the Chaparrals and as a player on the courts of eleven ABA cities, the familiar number 16 of Hagan is back in the game that gave him fame.

CHARLES BEASLEY

AGE: 22 "CHARLIE"
HEIGHT: 6' 5"
WEIGHT: 190
Born at Shawnee, Oklahoma, on September 23, 1945
Residence other than Dallas: Garland, Texas
High School: Fair Park High, Shreveport, Louisiana
College: Southern Methodist University

Charles Beasley was one of that pack of young Ponies at SMU that won for Doc Hayes his final Southwest Conference title and advanced to the Regional finals before falling to mighty Houston in 1967. Beasley was born North of the Red River in Shawnee, Oklahoma, went east of the river to play high school ball in Shreveport, Louisiana, and then came west to help rally the cause of the Mustangs. While at Fair Park High School, Beasley was an All-State selection for two years and named the MVP in AAA basketball in the Pelican State in 1962-63. Beasley continued his deadly scoring ways for the Mustangs. As a junior, he averaged 18.7 per game and finished with a career average of 15.1. He ranks third on the list of all-time SMU scorers behind Krebs and fellow Chaparral, Carroll Hooser. Beasley's good shooting eye found the nets for a 48% average from the field. Free throw percentage also reflects Beasley's sure touch. In three SMU years, he averaged 83% from the foul line. Charles won back-to-back honors in 1966 and 1967. He was named SMU's Most Valuable Player in 1966. He also was named to Look Magazine's All-District 6 team. Charlie was chosen to play in both the East-West and the North-South All-Star games last April. The Chaparrals were attracted to Beasley because of his out-court shooting ability which makes him a three-point threat under the ABA scoring system. Beasley is faced with converting himself into a guard after having played college ball at forward. With Beasley and Hooser both under Chaparral contracts, the Dallas fans may look around some game and think it's SMU night. Beasley is single and has just finished his tour of active duty with the Air Force Reserve. He majored in Business Administration at SMU.

JOHN MICHAEL BEASLEY

AGE: 23 "JOHN"
HEIGHT: 6'9"
WEIGHT: 225
Born in Texarkana, Arkansas, on February 5, 1944
Residence other than Dallas: Kildare, Texas
High School: Linden-Kildare, Linden, Texas
College: Texas A & M University from 1962 to 1966.

For three years a towering East Texas kid from Linden-Kildare, wearing the colors of Texas A & M, bombarded the other members of the Southwest Conference with one of the most devastating shooting attacks in the memory of the league. John Beasley swished the cords of the conference for more points in a single season than any other athlete and for more points than any other Aggie had ever scored in a season, in the conference, or in a career. Kildare is just a speck of dust 35 miles south of Texarkana along U. S. Highway 59 and Linden-Kildare is a 2A Consolidated Texas high school who, from time to time, has graduated some outstanding athletes. For instance, Edd Hargett, the present Texas Aggie quarterback and, of course, John Beasley. When Beasley was a sophomore in high school, Linden-Kildare pushed through the magic doors of the Schoolboy Tournament in Austin to capture the state title. As a junior and senior, the pinpoint shooting and rebounding of Beasley won him All-State honors and earned him a choice of scholarships. From his freshman year on, there was no stopping the crack shooting of the lean bomber. Named to the All SWC team as a freshman, Beasley averaged 18.8 points with 51% accuracy from the floor. The next season, Beasley was voted Sophomore of the Year and chosen to the All-Conference team, which he would also make as a junior and senior. The SWC Conference record lists John Beasley as having scored more points in one season (429 as a senior in 1966), having the best SWC season average (30.6 in 1966), the most field goals in a conference season (164 in 1966), and the most FG for the full season (250 in 1965). The A & M record book reads as if Beasley were the author. He threw in more points than any Aggie in a season (668 in 1965-66), in a conference season (429 in 1965-66), in a three season career (1,594 from 1964 to 1966), and in a conference career (1,007, 1964 to 1966). In three years for the Aggies, John snared 784 rebounds unmatched by any name on a Chaparral contract this season. John signed with Dallas during the summer of this year after playing basketball and working for Phillips in Oklahoma. Beasley has a B. A. degree in marketing from A & M where he was listed as a Distinguished Student maintaining an "A" average in 1965-66. He was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges in 1966. John is married to the former Janice Mills of Linden, Texas, and they have one daughter, Kim, 4 years old.

ARTHUR C. BECKER

AGE: 25 "BECK"
HEIGHT: 6'8-1/2"
WEIGHT: 210
Born in Akron, Ohio, on January 12, 1942
Residence: Dallas, Texas
High School: Camelback High School, Phoenix, Arizona
College: Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona, 1960 to 1964

Art Becker has had a long wait for the Chaparral season to tip off. Becker, two-time Honorable Mention All American from Arizona State, was the third player to ink a contract with the Dallas team of the ABA. At the time Becker signed, he was attending graduate school and serving as assistant freshman coach at Arizona State University. It was at Arizona that Becker had previously enjoyed three brilliant years of athletics and academics. He then spent two years playing AAU basketball. Art came out of Camelback High School in Phoenix, Arizona, with a bright set of credentials. For two years, Becker had been All-State and All-City in Phoenix as well as a member of the Scholastic Magazine's All-America Regional Team. He had been named to play in Arizona State's Coaches' All-Star game in 1960. This was only the prelude to an even more successful college career. The precision shooting of Becker and his strong rebounding and overall play brought him mentions on the All-American teams of 1962-63 and again in 1963-64. He was voted to the Western Athletic Conference first team in 1963, and the second team in 1964. A deadly shooter, Becker in three years averaged 52% from the floor with his best year being 58% as a Junior. While at Arizona, Becker scored well in the classroom also. He won All-American Academic honors his junior and senior years and graduated from ASU with a degree in History. Becker was a third round draft choice of the St. Louis Hawks, but played the next two seasons with Goodyear Tire and Rubber and worked in the company's management program. Becker was headed for a career coaching and teaching in the Phoenix school system when the Chaparrals opened the door for a return to basketball. Art is married to the former Lynn Haines whose parents now live in Dallas. Art and Lynn have a 2-1/2 year old daughter, Tracy. The couple and their little girl plan to make their off-season home in Phoenix.

THOMAS DONALD BLACK

AGE: 25 "TOM"
HEIGHT: 6'10"
WEIGHT: 250
Born at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, on July 9, 1942
High School: West Salem High in Wisconsin
Residence other than Dallas: Bartlesville, Oklahoma
College: University of Wisconsin
South Dakota State from 1962 to 1964

"Better late than never" describes the arrival of Little All-American Tom Black at South Dakota State in 1962 and at the Chaparral camp in 1967. After two years at Wisconsin, the 6' 10" Black transferred to South Dakota and led the school to the NCAA College Division Title in 1963. On the way to the title Black was named the most valuable player in the All Conference Midwest Regional. He made the All Conference team that year averaging 17.3 per game. In 1964 Black made the Little All-American 1st Team averaging 21.4 points per game. Only hours before Cliff Hagan blew the whistle to open the Chaparral fall training camp, Black dropped by to see if he could make the team. Dallas, badly in need of depth, was more than happy to greet this Northern giant. Black's strength and speed and fine touch, especially with the hook shot soon brought him a Chaparral contract and an excellent chance of being Dallas' starting center. Black is not a great jumper, but is big and fast and has three years of AAU experience. In his two years at South Dakota, Black latched on to 635 rebounds and scored 917 points. Black appeared at the right moment in the fortunes of South Dakota and Dallas hopes he has come in the nick of time for the Chaparrals.

Born at Elizabeth, New Jersey, on August 11, 1941
Residence other than Dallas: Bronx, New York
High School: Theodore High in the Bronx
College: Canton Tech
Texas Western from 1961 to 1963

Willie Brown has seen a lot of the world since his basketball career began back in the Bronx. From the hard pavements and pick-up games of the city parks to the All-Star Arena in Tokyo, Brown has been displaying his smooth running basketball talents. Willie came leaping out of a high school gym at Theodore Roosevelt in the Bronx to shoot his way to a pair of explosive years at Canton Tech Junior College in New York. At Canton, Willie was voted to the Eastern All-American Team and was an honorable mention choice on the NJCAA team. At Canton, he averaged 19 and 28 points in two campaigns. From Canton, Willie packed himself off to the wide-open spaces at Texas Western where he traveled two years with Don Haskins and the Miners. In the 1961-62 season, Willie picked up All-Border Conference honors. That was the conference's final year. Willie was a steady shooter and a tough defensive player for the Miners. After Texas Western, Willie was drafted by the Baltimore Bullets, but failed to make the team. He then played briefly with the Harlem Globe-trotters before entering the service. By now, Willie was really logging some basketball miles. His Fort Hood team won the Fourth Army Championship and Willie led the scoring with a 26 point average. A year later, Willie was playing basketball in Korea. Chosen to the Army All-Star Team, he played in Tokyo. Discharged from the service in 1966, Willie returned to New York from where he started a few game clocks ago. Highly recommended by Don Haskins, the Chaparrals invited Willie to their fall training camp. Brown remains a tough customer on defense and leads the fast break down the court with precision. Willie has been many places and has played much basketball, but the Chaps are planning on traveling him a few miles more. Single... Willie plans to make his home in the off season in New York.

CARROLL HOOSER

AGE: 23 "CARROLL"
HEIGHT: 6' 7"
WEIGHT: 230
Born in Dallas, Texas, on March 5, 1944
Residence: Dallas, Texas
High School: Richardson High School, Richardson, Texas
College: Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, 1962 to 1966

Carroll Hooser has been an All-State high school basketball player, an All-Southwest Conference Star at SMU and now a professional with the Dallas Chaparrals, and it all happened in his own back yard. Hooser is from Richardson, Texas, a suburb of Dallas. At Richardson High School, the strong Hooser was twice an All-Stater, in 1961 and again in 1962. As a junior, he averaged 25.1 per game and 26.3 as a senior with a two year rebounding average of 18 per game. All of this led Hooser only fifteen minutes down a Dallas expressway to SMU and Doc Hayes, the veteran coach of the Mustangs. Cheered on by the hometown fans, Carroll continued his mighty play. While roaming the barn floor of the Mustangs, Hooser swept to All-Southwest Conference honors in 1965 and in 1966, averaging 15.8 and then 20.1 in his final year. It was the 1966 Doc Hayes Club that burst down the stretch of the conference to win ten straight and nip the tiring Texas Aggies at the finish of a memorable winter. Hooser vanished through the doors at Moody leaving behind the second highest scoring total in the history of SMU. Only the great Krebs ever punished the nets for more points. Hooser shares the SMU rebounding record with Gene Elmore for a single game with 22. In the 1966 NCAA Regional finals, Hooser was named to the All-Tournament team as the Ponies faded before awesome Kansas. Hooser was a sixth round draft choice of the Detroit Pistons in 1966. He bears the distinction of being the first player to put his name to a Chaparral contract having signed with the Dallas franchise in early 1967. During the summer tryout camp, Carroll labored into shape after a year's absence from college competition. He quickly lost some excess weight and impressed observers with a new found agressiveness. Hooser promises to be a good shooting forward and an excellent rebounder. He has the muscle and "savy" to mix it with the best inside men. Carroll seems likely to offer the hometown crowd a post-graduate course in how much fun it is to cheer on a local hero. Until recently, Hooser has been an insurance salesman in Dallas and Athletic Supervisor for the City of Richardson. He is married to the former Linda Herbst of St. Louis, and they have two children - Matt who is 20 months and Lisa, 8 months.

Born at Wichita, Kansas, on May 26, 1944
Residence other than Dallas: Wichita, Kansas
High School: Wichita North, Wichita, Kansas
College: University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kansas, from 1962 to 1966

Two of the most frantic basketball worlds on the windswept plains of Kansas are at Wichita and at Lawrence. Riney Lochman, the iron strong youngster who has been battling for a spot on the Chaparral team, played at Wichita North and at the University of Kansas, and emerged from both with a respected career. While at Wichita North, Riney made the All-State team for two years and was named to the All-American Prep team. He wound up on the Scholastic All-American team. Riney averaged 20 points a game while in high school. At the University of Kansas, Lochman played on the great Jayhawk teams of the last several seasons. As a junior, Lochman was named the Most Valuable Player in the Big-8 Christmas Tournament played at Kansas City. As a senior, Riney was Co-Captain and voted the Most Valuable Player on the team. Lochman is a good outside shooter...a tremendous rebounder...is strong defensively...has great dedication...very sound basketball player. Riney is single and plans to coach after a career in the ABA.

When "Bad News" Barnes decided to stay with the Lakers in the NBA, it left the Dallas Chaparrals in mid-summer without a big center. The tryout camp was over and no giants had come climbing down the bean stalk. The Chaparrals went on a search-and-find mission. The results, a young 7 footer who had just graduated from Louisiana Tech, Richard Peek. Peek was called "the best center in the Gulf States Conference" by his coach Scotty Robertson, but this had caused little excitement. Peek had a solid career, averaging 15 points a game for two years and set a few school scoring and rebounding records, but nothing to really shout about. However, Coach Cliff Hagan liked the youngster's determination and ability to move. Feeling that Peek was young in experience but strong on promise and 7 feet tall, the Chaparrals reached up and handed the former Florida high school All-American a contract. Peek came to Louisiana Tech by way of Escambia High School in his hometown of Pensacola, Florida. Peek played a pair of years at the University of Florida and then transferred to Tech. Peek was a second team All Gulf States choice for two years, and was voted Tech's MVP in 1965-66 and again in 1966-67. Richard set the individual school single season record for field goal percentage (53.4% in 1966-67), and set the Gulf States Conference season school record for F.G. percentage and rebounds (57.6) and most rebounds (154) both in 1966-67. Peek has good speed for a big man and is eager to learn. He is just now learning to be agressive and should develop and improve over the season. Richard is married to the former Carole Ruth Peabody of Pensacola, Florida.

CINCINNATUS POWELL

AGE: 25 "CINCY"
HEIGHT: 6'7" "C"
WEIGHT: 227
Born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana on February 25, 1942
Residence: Dallas, Texas
High School: McKinley High of Baton Rouge, Louisiana
College: University of Portland, Portland, Oregon, 1962 to 1966

Eight years elapsed for Cincinnatus (Cincy) Powell between the time he enrolled at Xavier of New Orleans in 1958 until he graduated from the University of Portland in 1966. It was quite a journey for a youngster who went to work at age 8 in a grocery store earning $1 a day. He waited until he was 11 before he secured a Social Security card. The heroic Latin name of Cincinnatus was given Powell by his imaginative father who drowned three years later. With such a dramatic name, it was inevitable that Cincy should do things in a big way. In the beginning, it was basketball that carried him upward. His McKinley High of Baton Rouge team won the State AAA title in 1957 when he was a junior and finished second in the All-National prep tourney at Tennessee A & I... Next year, McKinley was runner-up in the Louisiana AAA tournament... Powell was an All-State choice both seasons. A basketball scholarship at Xavier was short lived when the school abandoned athletics. In January, 1959, Powell joined the Army and was shipped to Okinawa where his service team won the Island Championship and he was voted the Most Popular Player. He tried out with the Army All-Stars in San Francisco, and not only made the team but helped the Army Stars to the Interservice Title. By the time his service was up, he had literally played his way to another chance at college. Before Cincy was finished at the University of Portland, he had made good on the court, on the campus, and in the classroom. He averaged 15.2 points per game for a three year career with 306 rebounds... Voted the Most Inspirational Player Award and Most Valuable Player Award by his teammates ... Elected Captain of the team... Member of the UPI All-Coast team, and wound up being drafted by the St. Louis Hawks of the NBA. Cincy also finished with a B.A. degree in Communications and a "B" average, while being successful in many speech and debate events on campus as well as Vice-President of the student body. Last year, Powell played with the Battle Creek Braves of the North American Basketball League where he was the second leading rebounder in the League... Elected Captain of the Braves... Voted the Most Valuable Player. Cincy came to Dallas for the summer tryout camp, after which he signed with the Chaparrals. Cincy is billed as a strong rebounder and a good shooter who likes the pressure of strong competition. Cincy is married to the former Faye Jean Waldon, and they have one daughter, Kimberly Michelle, 2 1/2 years old.

Cincy Powell.

...Cincy Powell excelled on the basketball floor and on the campus.

...Powell was voted the Most Inspirational Player Award, was Captain of the team, and was a member of the Far-West Classic All-Star team.

...He was Vice-President of the student body and Chairman of the International Week Committee.

...Cincy was voted to the UPI All-Coast team.

...While at Portland, he was a vocalist for a rock-and-roll group called "Cincy and the Deltas."

...Majoring in communications, Cincy was a member of the Portland Forensic team. He placed first in the Oregon State Peace Oratory contest and third in the national contest.

Bob Verga.

...As an All-American high school player at St. Rose High in Belmar, New Jersey, Verga scored 2,000 points, averaging 40 points as a senior, and he set New Jersey's single season scoring record with 1,003 points.

...Verga's high school won the state championship two years in a row, taking the title game his senior year on a last second jump shot by Verga with the scored tied 80-80.

...Bob Verga holds the Duke Indoor Stadium scoring record of 51 points set as a freshman.

...Was chosen the Most Valuable Player of the NCAA 1966 Eastern Regional tournament while competing against such outstanding stars as Dave Bing (Syracuse), Dick Snyder (Davidson), Matt Guokas (St. Joseph's) and teammate, Jack Marin.

...At 6' 1", the solidly built Verga is the shortest man signed to a Chaparral contract.

NOLAN RICHARDSON, JR.

AGE: 24 "SWEET SAM"
HEIGHT: 6' 3"
WEIGHT: 190
Born in El Paso, Texas, on December 27, 1942
Residence other than Dallas: El Paso, Texas
High School: Bowie High in El Paso
College: Texas Western from 1960 to 1964

In basketball they say you don't teach defense, you encourage desire. If that's true, then somebody encouraged the daylights out of Nolan Richardson, the 6' 3" defensive Demon who played at Texas Western. Nolan showed up in the Chaparral camp this summer and confirmed the rumors of his bellicose nature. "Sweet Sam" is anything but sweet. He's a fierce, untiring hawk who punishes an offensive player. In that far corner of Texas, they whisper that Nolan is the greatest natural athlete to come out of El Paso. At Bowie High School in the border city, Nolan made All-Texas twice, was the Most Valuable Player in the city for three straight years and named the city's top player in 1959. He set the El Paso City scoring record for a single game (52 points). He was incidentally a fine football player. Although he didn't play football at Texas Western, Richardson took a shot at pro ball with the San Diego Chargers. Some say he might have made it at corner back except for a muscle injury during tryout camp. At Texas Western, Nolan zoomed to new honors. In his sophomore year, he was the team's leading scorer with a 21 point average. The following year Don Haskins appeared at Western and Nolan's style of play was altered. He failed to score as often because he didn't shoot as much. Defense became the password. Richardson was All-Border conference for two years, leading the conference in scoring in 1961-62. He was the MVP in the Sun Bowl Tourney. Despite the lack of emphasis on scoring his last two years, Nolan still ranks as the third player ever to score more than 1,000 points at Texas Western; the others being Jim Barnes and Charlie Brown. Richardson has been teaching and coaching at Bowie High in El Paso the last several years. As of late, he has been turning his considerable athletic talents to golf. Although he took up the game only three years ago, some observers have encouraged Richardson to go on the tour. At the moment, however, the only tour for Richardson is the coming ABA jaunt from Anaheim to New Jersey and all points in between.

...Played two seasons with the Phillips Oilers in Oklahoma and one year of AAU ball on the Pacific Coast.

RUBIN B. RUSSELL, JR.

AGE: 22 "RUBE"
HEIGHT: 6'2"
WEIGHT: 180
Born in Fort Worth, Texas, on November 7, 1944
Residence: Fort Worth, Texas
High School: I. M. Terrell, Fort Worth, Texas
College: Parsons Junior College, Parsons, Texas
North Texas State University, Denton, Texas, 1965 to 1967

High scoring consistency has marked the career of the Chaparral's slick guard, Rubin Russell. Russell, an Honorable Mention All-American did what no other North Texas player had ever done, and that was win the Missouri Valley Conference scoring title. He did it not once, but twice, and with a hard-to-believe footnote attached... Both times Rubin played 14 conference games, scored exactly 312 points, and had identical 22.2 averages. This brand of scoring has been a Russell trademark since his school days at I. M. Terrell in Fort Worth where he won All-State honors. Rubin shot up the plains of Kansas while at Parsons Junior College. After two years, 50 games and 1,101 points for a 23.5 average, Rubin was voted to the National Junior College All-American team. As a sophomore he scored 20 or more points in 23 of 27 junior college games. As a junior at North Texas, Rubin was one of the nation's hottest shooters in his school's last seven games when he rang up 209 points for a 29.9 mean. Against Louisville that year, Russell poured in 40 points, third highest ever by a North Texas player. He also bombed Bradley with 38 and 37 point performances. He set a school record of 18 field goals while attempting 27 shots in the first Bradley explosion... Russell was named to the Missouri Valley All-Conference team his two years at North Texas, being an unanimous choice the last year. Russell looms as a key figure in the backcourt play of the Chaparrals. He has great speed and quick hands and a pair of eyes that seem zeroed in on the inside of the net... Can score from long range... Is a definite 3-point threat under the new ABA rules... Also can score well on the run... Has the ability not to commit himself too soon to one course of action... Great change-of-pace moves. Russell is married, his wife's name is Jeanett, and they have a two-month old daughter, Terri.

LEE ANDREW STOGLIN

AGE: 25 "ANDY"
HEIGHT: 6' 4"
WEIGHT: 200
Born in Phoenix, Arizona, on August 16, 1942.
Residence other than Dallas: Phoenix, Arizona
High School: Phoenix, Arizona
College: Texas Western

Andy Stoglin was already a professional when he became the fourth player to ink a Chaparral contract in the early spring. Handy Andy had just finished a two-year stint with the Harlem Globetrotters. The former Texas Western backcourt ace joined the Club labeled as being a good shooter and a good rebounder.

Andy is the second tallest backcourt man wearing the colors of the Chaparrals. Stoglin gives the Chaparrals a definite three-point threat. Andy likes to shoot from long range and under the ABA scoring can do major damage. After leaving Phoenix, Arizona, where he was an All-State high school basketball player, Andy played at Stockton Junior College in 1961 and then played three years at Texas Western. Stoglin owns an unusual jump shot which he releases over his head. Tough to guard and tougher to keep off the boards. Stoglin is married, his wife's name is Artis, and they have an eight year old daughter, Andrea Lacelle.

ROBERT BRUCE VERGA

AGE: 22 "BOB"
HEIGHT: 6'1"
WEIGHT: 190
Born in Neptune, New Jersey on September 7, 1945
Residence other than Dallas: Sea Girt, New Jersey
High School: St. Rose High at Belmar, New Jersey
College: Duke University from 1963 to 1967

At the age of 21, two time All American Bob Verga already had a B. A. degree in Psychology, a reputation as one of the nation's outstanding college basketball players, and a contract to play basketball for the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association. Bob Verga flew into Dallas in the summer of 1967 after a spectacular career at Duke University. He had played his way onto a multitude of conference and All American teams... Second Team AP and UPI All American Teams (junior year)... AP and UPI First Team All-American (senior year)... Atlantic Coast Conference First Team 1965, 1966, and 1967. Verga was an unanimous choice of 73 sportswriters who picked the 1967 ACC team. He was selected to First Team National Association of Basketball Coaches All American... Scored 30 or more points 10 times in 1967... Top point production was 41 markers against Ohio State... Tallied 39 to win over Wake Forest... Finished the 1966-67 regular season with 12 consecutive games of 20 points or more and scored 20 or more in 19 of the Blue Devil's 23 regular season games... most fantastic shooting spree was 15 for 20 (FG) and 9 of 10 (FT) for 39 points in second conference game against Wake Forest. When the smoke of three seasons had cleared, Verga had set a single season scoring average at Duke in 1966-67 (26.1) and finished as the fourth leading scorer in the Carolina school's history. Verga was the Number 2 draft choice of the St. Louis Hawks in the NBA, but declined the Hawk's offer to sign with the Chaparrals. Verga has the credentials of a thrill-a-minute basketball player with his deadly shooting and deft ball handling. A sound defensive player, Verga has a tremendous spark on and off the court, and is considered an outstanding team leader.
